Background

In the challenging times and unprecedented world of the COVID-19 pandemic, the situation has emerged amid the structural changes in the global economy, finances and society that are ongoing due to a number of factors and the new landscape of the world in different dimensions such as the role of data & technology and environmental in driving along with the adaptation guidelines of all sectors to move forward in the new world stably economic development. It can therefore be expected that the international trade, the diplomatic manners, trade, and investment sectors are the key elements to drive economic growth, business success, and new skills in a continuously changing new trade world.

International trade negotiations are complicated processes, involving dozens or more players who may each represent different interests. Businesses and their associations must learn how to influence such negotiations, nationally and internationally, in order to best position themselves to benefit from the evolving global trading environment. As many countries prepare for new world negotiations, the number of multilateral framework agreements, bilateral framework agreements, regional framework agreements, and free trade negotiation framework agreements has increased. As a result, a lot of commercial diplomats around the world are required to provide support and facilitation to international trade. Consequently, it is necessary to train a new generation of negotiators to assist in the country's and region's preparations to reopen the country in the post Covid-19. In addition, it is urgent and important to change the work plan to be proactive, emphasizing the active role of negotiators in policymaker-to-policymaker collaboration and how to introduce market penetration, as well as to learn the needs of entrepreneurs. On the other hand, it is also an opportunity to initiate dialogue on new important trade issues, to lay out best practices and new rules that countries have agreed upon in areas, including e-commerce, investment facilitation, domestic service requirements and strategies to support SMEs, the BCC (Bio-Circular-Green-Economy Model) to get the full benefits of trade, environmental, circular economy, Data & Technology, etc.

Commercial Nowadays included:

■ Digital Transformation:

The digitalization of the global economy had a profound impact on commercial diplomacy. Diplomatic efforts focused on issues related to e-commerce, data flows, and cybersecurity, reflecting the growing importance of the digital sphere in international trade.

■ Trade Agreements:

Countries continued to negotiate trade agreements, both bilateral and multilateral, as a means of enhancing economic cooperation and reducing trade barriers. Agreements like the CPTPP and RCEP were significant developments.

■ Sustainability and Responsible Business Practices:

Commercial diplomacy increasingly incorporated sustainability and responsible business practices into trade negotiations. Environmental, social, and governance (ESG) factors were considered in trade agreements.

■ Geopolitical Shifts:

Geopolitical dynamics influenced commercial diplomacy. Countries sought to navigate these complexities and protect their economic interests.

■ Climate Change:

Climate change considerations became integral to commercial diplomacy, with discussions about carbon pricing, green technology trade, and carbon border adjustment mechanisms.

■ Supply Chain Resilience:

The COVID-19 pandemic highlighted the importance of resilient supply chains, and commercial diplomacy aimed to address supply chain disruptions and diversification strategies.

■ Foreign Direct Investment (FDI):

Attracting FDI and ensuring the protection of investments remained key aspects of commercial diplomacy. Bilateral investment treaties and investment facilitation agreements were topics of negotiation.

■ International Trade Disputes:

Ongoing trade disputes and tensions, such as those between the U.S. and China, required diplomatic efforts to find resolutions and mitigate economic disruptions.

■ Economic Recovery:

In the wake of the pandemic, commercial diplomacy played a role in supporting economic recovery efforts, including the removal of trade barriers for essential goods and services.

■ Public-Private Partnerships:

Collaboration between governments and the private sector gained prominence in commercial diplomacy, particularly in areas like infrastructure development and trade promotion.

■ Digital Trade and Data Flows:

Cross-border data flows and digital trade issues, including data privacy and data localization regulations, featured prominently in trade negotiations.

■ Trade and Health:

Ensuring access to essential health-related products, including COVID-19 vaccines and treatments, was a priority in trade diplomacy.

In this manner, the International Institute for Trade and Development – ITD (Public Organization) is a center of excellence for capacity building on trade and sustainable development in the Asia-Pacific region and the sub-region, according to the following.

1

ITD also plays an important roles and duties in promoting trade and investment. Make a new generation of trade negotiators.

2

ITD assists the business community in understanding the commercial implications of multilateral, regional and bilateral trade negotiations, and in empowering enterprises to articulate their interest and priorities to trade negotiators.

3

ITD provides regular, up-to-date information on trade negotiations and publications explaining the rules of the international trading system.

ITD plans to organize an advanced program on “Commercial Diplomacy and International Trade Negotiations for personnel in preparation to the current reality of global trade situation, which is vicious, fast, and increasingly unpredictable factors such as competitiveness, technological innovations, demographic changes, and the tide of globalization contributing to the market volatility. The goal of this training is to facilitate the learning and understanding of said conditions and surrounding trade policies and commercial diplomacy in order to further participant's trade negotiation skills strengthen their capacities for international trade negotiations as well as share understanding and views between regulators and private sectors. Besides, the training course is expected to be one type of the platforms for international cooperation within the Asia-Pacific region by having Thailand's support on the international cooperation of trade negotiation development to achieve sustainability in economic and social dimension.
